

Exercises for Chapter 10

1. You are supposed to tune a PID controller. It's an important loop and you have both time and resources to obtain good control. Make a list of loop assessment checks that should be made before you tune the controller.
2. You are in charge of the supervision of a process section with about 100 control loops. Make a wish-list of automatic performance assessment functions that you would like to have.